MESSAGE FROM THE VICE CHANCELLOR

Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Padmaja Mishra

I am pleased to introduce Rama Devi Women's University's annual report-2018 to you. This is a year after we have emerged from the effects of the Covid-19 pandemic. We have all learnt to keep ourselves afloat in the public health crisis of unprecedented scale. From getting to grip with classes and meetings in a virtual environment, we have finally found our foot again in the familiar spaces of offline classrooms, blackboards, chalks, and dusters.

Gaining our lessons from the pandemic, Rama Devi Women's University, in this academic year, has underlined the need for the focus in health and wellness of its stakeholders. The growing number of young people committing suicide is a concern across campuses in India. Education cannot be successfully imparted or received if our mental or physical health is compromised. A healthy ambience is the key to the development of great teachers, scholars, and citizens.

In terms of extracurricular activities, this year has been eventful too. This year has also been the year of inclusivity of the minority. We believe in the importance of their participation in the framework of society. We observed the International Transgender Day of Visibility and organised a consultation programme on Draft National Policy for Persons with Disability. Success is a collective effort. Let Rama Devi Women's University raise new aspirations every day. Let us continue this positive role modelling to create marked footprints of our students in a globalized world.

Odisha Governor Prof Ganeshi Lal addressed first convocation of the Rama Devi Women's University. Women are not merely a creation of the Almighty but are incarnated beings, said Governor and Chancellor of Universities Prof Ganeshi Lal at the first convocation of the Rama Devi Women's University held here on Saturday.

Congratulating the first batch students graduating from the State's first women's university, Prof Lal urged the students to always remember the sacrifices and struggles, the nobility and stature of the great freedom fighter Maa Rama Devi. Never compromise on your sense of worth or self-respect, and become bold, empowered and emancipated women, he advised students.

He also viewed that the first graduating students of the university would set examples to all other batches of students down them and other women in the State.

“So, how you choose to build your life and career might remain as valuable examples. Real education is not simply one that fetches you a job or helps you build a career. Education that makes you to think rationally and make proper decisions in life is proper education.

The Governor also urged the young women to be passionate and indulge themselves with devotion and dedication in building career and to have a philanthropical bent in their professional attitude.

Former Chief Justice of India Dipak Misra said there should be no anxiety about growth, no confusion over the path to be chosen and no hesitation in choosing the destination; only work with concentration and consistency on the chosen path would make you 'The Eventual Achievers.'

He also urged the students to always remain conscious not to get swept away by the hurry of climbing up the success-ladder. Success will come gradually with efforts and not by ambition, he added.

Jharkhand Governor Droupadi Murmu and three other noted persons were conferred with the Degree of Doctor of Literature (DLitt) on the occasion. Murmu was honoured with the D Litt in Humanities and Social Sciences and it was a first in the country where a Governor was honoured by another Governor.
