Rama Devi Women's University is named after Maa Rama Devi as a humble tribute to the values and sacrifices she stood for. Rama Devi Choudhury, adoringly called Maa (Mother) by the people of Orissa, was a celebrated freedom fighter and a social reformer. Born on the 3rd December, 1899 at Cuttack, she inherited a great legacy as the daughter of Gopal Ballav Das and the niece of Utkal Gaurab Madhusudan Das. At the tender age of 15, she married Gopabandhu Choudhury, then a Deputy Collector and later a freedom fighter.

MESSAGES

Vice-Chancellor Desk
Prof. Aparajita Chowdhury

Documenting for future is always important and who other than newspapers can do that better. I am glad to find the release of annual newsletter of Department of history. It is a praise worthy effort by members of history department to preserve the present for the future. On release of the newsletter, I am congratulating all the members of the department.

Working for newsletter is an opportunity for students to learn and explore new skills. It teaches them the art of documenting things with style. The release of the newsletter will provide opportunity to students to develop such skills. I congratulate the faculty members and students of History department for their sincere effort in preparing the newsletter. I wish the newsletter all success.

I express my pleasure on the occasion of release of the newsletter. This newsletter is a nice effort by history department to document the department happenings even on these pandemic days. I wish all a healthy life and all success to the newsletter.

BRAHMESWARA TEMPLE

At a distance of 3 km from Lingaraja Temple, Brahmeswara Temple is a famous Hindu temple located in the temple city of Bhubaneswar. It is one of the holy places to visit in Bhubaneswar and among the best places of heritage in Orissa.

Dedicated to Lord Shiva, Brahmeswara Temple stands in a courtyard flanked by four smaller temples. The temple belongs to late 11th century according to an inscription carried to Calcutta from Bhubaneswar. The inscription indicates that the temple was built in 1058 AD by King Udyotakesari's mother Kolavati Devi during the Somavamsi king's 18th ruling year.

- The temple is built in the traditional Kalinga architecture style by using of stones. The temple is classified as a Panchatanaya temple where four subsidiary shrines situated in the four corners of the main shrine. This pyramid shape temple has two parts namely the Vimana and Jagamohana. The Vimana of the temple is around 18.96 m. It was during the construction of this temple that iron beams were used by the builders. The Jagamohana is famous for the lion head idols that were first found at the Mukteswar Temple. The sandstone walls and the wooden structures of the interior are worth mentioning.
- Brahmeswara Temple is renowned for its artistic sculptures,

- especially for the sculptures in the tower and porch of the temple.
- Tantric related images are also placed inside this temple. The exterior walls of the temple are adorned with the figures of several gods and goddesses, carvings of birds, animals and some religious scenes. Exquisite of the carvings is Lord Shiva in the form of Nataraja, playing a veena above a bull and voluptuous female figures elaborately bedecked with ornaments.
- Brahmeswara Temple is renowned for its artistic sculptures,
