Report of the Programme: "Painting as Fun"
Date: 20.07.2023

Art and Craft Club, Rama Devi Women's University, in collaboration with community Connect Cell and Health and Wellness Centre, organized a Painting Competition at Jewels International Chetana Institute for the Mentally Handicapped, Bhubaneswar. Chetana Institute is a premier institute imparting training to more than 130 differently abled children. Art and Craft Club organized the programme "Painting as Fun" to make those children exhibit their hidden potential as well as enjoy while painting. Details of the programme are given below.

1. Title of the Programme: Painting as Fun
2. Collaborations made: Collaboration with Community Connect Cell and Health and Wellness Centre, Rama Devi Women's University.
3. Date: 20.07.2023.
4. Objective /Motivation of the Programme: To encourage differently-abled children to express their inner ideas through painting.
5. Participant details- 36 differently abled students of Jewels International Chetana Institute for the Mentally Handicapped.
6. Outcomes of the event: Students have expressed their love for nature by drawing various objects of nature such as flowers, trees birds, rivers and mountains as well as by adding colours to those beautiful pictures. Considering their disability, no theme was given for competition. Hence, children enjoyed it by drawing their own form of art/painting.
7. Recommendations (if any): More such programmes may be organized in other institutions made for children with special needs. Such type of competitions with free choice may be organized for normal children at RDWU too.
